1. Introduction

In the era of globalization, the development of Information Technology (IT) is growing rapidly. IT helps companies to develop and experience rapid growth year by year. The manager of the company chooses to use IT for interacting efficiently and conducting business openly. IT brings companies much closer to consumers, helps reduce the costs, and makes businesses more flexible [1]. Bandung, as one of the tourist destinations in Indonesia and attracts many tourists, has developed many forms of facilities and infrastructure in it. One of them is providing easily accessed tour packages information or booking. Online media can promote these products or services through websites, online advertisements, mailing lists, social networks, blogs, business communities, etc. With the unlimited market range, it will increase the opportunities to attract as many consumers as possible [2]. The use of social media both in web and cellular-based internet technology is to create a variety of unlimited information in any geographical, social, political or demographic aspect through participatory and collaborative public interaction. Social media has now been used by commercial circles and has become a global phenomenon in recent years [3].

Bandung Tour Expert is a travel agency that offers tour packages to consumers or tourists on online media. In conducting its business, Bandung Tour Expert has several products, one of them is tour package. A tour package is a series of activities where tourists can choose various activities such as tours and tour packages that have been arranged for a certain price. The price of tour packages, in general, includes all components in the tour, such as transportation, meals, accommodation, guides, and others [4]. All activities arranged well to be a tour package and marketed to individual and group tourists through the internet. The target market segmentation is domestic tourists. By making online travel package orders, customers or tourists do not need to go directly to travel agents but can directly access the internet by opening the website. This internet media was chosen because of the rapid development of information technology affecting the lifestyles of current customers, including the way Bandung Tour Expert Tours market or promote the product and service that has been designed using internet media [5]. Promotion on online media can facilitate consumers and be more efficient for companies [6]. With this information, researchers are interested in knowing how the marketing strategy of travel packages through internet media at Bandung Tour Expert.

The purpose of this research is to describe how marketing strategies on online media affect company positively. Therefore, we will explain how to analyze the marketing strategy carried out by Bandung Tour Expert using SWOT analysis techniques so that all the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats found in the company can be known.

2. Method

In this research, the data collected using observation techniques by making direct observations to the research location for obtaining a clear picture of the tour packages and its marketing. This research used descriptive, qualitative, and SWOT analysis methods to find out the marketing strategy problem variables related to prices, products, promotions, and distribution channels owned by Bandung Tour Expert.

3. Results and Discussion

The marketing strategy carried out through internet media by Bandung Tour Expert was a strategy to make customers and tourists access their products and services easily. In marketing their products and services, Bandung Tour Expert used a website as its online media. This website could be accessed by all people wherever they are as long as they had internet access. The influence of internet media in Bandung Tour Expert also affected segmenting, targeting, and positioning. The demographics of product and service sales from Bandung Tour Expert were centered on domestic or domestic tourists only. The target market involved men and women aged from children to adults because the available routes were domestic travel in Bandung. Various tour packages offered enable tourists to have more options and choose attractive tour packages to meet their vacation needs. Bandung Tour Expert marketed their products through internet media using BTB and BTC. BTB stands for Business to Business which is an activity where Bandung Tour Expert conducted product marketing through internet media by installing several outbound and inbound tour packages that could attract several potential agents abroad to market the these packages in their countries. Business to Business had different prices from the ones on the website. It was also occurred for other collaborated travel agency companies.

On the other hand, BTC or Business to Customer directly corresponded with tourists who bought tour packages. They would be subject to the prices listed on the website. Marketing tour packages through online media were preferable to brochures because it was more efficient for Bandung Tour Expert. Consumers who would buy tour packages could easily access the website. Moreover, the payment system and purchase confirmation were made as convenient as possible. The development of technology was now equal to the rapid growth of travel agents in Bandung which grew rapidly with tight competition. Facing this situation, Bandung Tour Expert continued to improve its strategy to survive and compete with other travel agents. Discussing these problems, SWOT analysis obtained the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats in marketing tour packages through online media in Bandung Tour Expert which can be seen in Table 1.
